Compulsory Killing.

"A bill for an act requiring physicians to take human life" was the title of a measure introduced in the Iowa Assembly by Representative Gregory Saturday afternoon. No sooner had the reading clerk announced the title than every member was looking at his neighbor in mute inquiry as to whether he had heard aright.

"Nothing but common sense legislation to reduce suicides, put an end to needless pain and prevent the rearing of idiotic, hopelessly diseased or hideously deformed children," explained Dr. Gregory to his colleagues, as they gathered about him after the session had adjourned to ascertain if his measure was seriously proposed.

"You'd do as much for an old horse which had lost his teeth or broken a leg. Humanity to human animals is what I propose. Chloroform them when they reach a place where life is a burden to them and their relatives. All surgeons do as much even now, but they're taking long chances when they do it. I would make such murder not only legal but compulsory.

"Laugh if you will, but you'll see the day when such a law is in force. It may be a step in advance of our time, but it's bound to come. If you look at my bill you'll find it isn't radical or revolutionary. It contains every reasonable safeguard to prevent abuse of the statute. I assure you, no doctor is hankering after such a job as this bill imposes. He will shirk the responsibility, if possible. It is only a high sense of duty that ever actuates a surgeon in such cases."

The bill provides that at least three physicians and the county coroner must unanimously agree on the necessity for the legalized murder, as contemplated by the Gregory measure, and that it must be with the consent of the nearest relative and, if practicable, of the patient himself. Any deviation from this requirement subjects those participating in the act to the penalties prescribed for first degree murder. They must report their proceedings to the State Board of Health, where a permanent record of such cases will be kept.

Paralysis, leprosy, cancer, imbecility, numerous hideous or repulsive incurable diseases and the worst kinds of deformity are enumerated by Dr. Gregory among the many illustrations in justification of his bill.

By the terms of the Gregory bill any person of sound mind over ten years of age enduring great physical pain and believing death inevitable, may call upon a physician to take his life.

Rough Passage of a Steamer.

The American line steamer, Philadelphia, which arrived at New York yesterday from Southampton and Cherbourg, had a rough passage and had to stop three hours for repairs and run under reduced speed for twelve hours. About 10 o'clock Friday night, in clear moonlight, the ship seemed to go down into a hole and a large section of the ocean came square over the bow, rolling aft. The sea carried away several feet of the end of the bowsprit, broke the bobstay and one forestay. The other forstay held. The water rolled aft until it entered the passageway between the officers' saloons. It smashed its way through the door of the officers' deckhouse and into the captain's cabin, which it flooded knee deep. From there the water soaked down through the deck and broken windows to the promenade deck, where it rolled aft to the grand companionway well, descended and flooded the saloon deck and the staterooms of the passengers. They rushed out into the passageways half clothed and wholly scared, shouting for help. The officers of the ship assured them that there was no danger and sent them back to bed. Capt. Mills saw that the tip of the bowsprit, which hung thrashing about in the water, would do damage if the injury was not repaired. But it was unsafe for anyone to go forward on account of the tossing of the broken spar. He stopped the propellers and the ship fell into the trough of the sea. It took the crew three hours to repair the damage and secure the stays. No one on board was hurt severely.

Starving to Death.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters, of St. Clair St., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health Tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts"? These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I commenced taking the Compound I suffered everything with backaches, headaches, and female troubles. I am completely cured and enjoy the best of health, and I owe it all to you."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacements or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the female organs, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. No other medicine in the world has received this widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice and medicine have restored to health innumerable women. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Fights with Wildcat.

To be seated in a buggy behind a runaway horse, battling for his life with a wildcat, was the experience of Harvey Jackson, a traveling man from New York. Saturday afternoon, while he was driving from Irventon to Youngsville, Pa., the rig was passing a lonely stretch of woods when the beast sprang into the vehicle from a tree, alighting on the driver's lap. The wildcat tore the robe to pieces and attacked Jackson. He drew a small knife and managed to open it. While the cat was tearing his face and body he jabbed it with his weapon. The horse had become frightened and was running away, while in the swaying buggy the battle continued. Jackson was gradually growing weaker, when suddenly the cat dropped to the bottom of the buggy, dead. He had killed it with the knife. The horse ran almost to Youngsville before Jackson recovered and stopped it. Although badly hurt the man will recover.

To be chased a quarter of a mile and then held prisoner for four hours by a monster wildcat was the experience of William Ford, an unarmed engineer, at the air compressor of No. 4 slope at the Richards colliery, Mt. Carmel, Pa. The compressor is located on top of the mountain, and Ford had been a half-mile away, getting some wrenches needed at his machine. As he was returning to his work the cat chased him. He reached the engine house and as he opened the door and the animal realized that its prey was about to escape it sprang for him, but he had closed the door and the body of the cat went against it. For four hours it kept vigil outside, but when daylight appeared slunk away.

The Atlanta Tragedy.

Mrs. Willie Standifer, arraigned at Atlanta, Ga., Saturday afternoon for killing her seventeen-year-old sister, Chappell Whisenant, whom she had discovered in an intrigue with her husband, was held for murder, and her husband was bound over for improper relations with the murdered girl. Hisses greeted Judge Broyles as he bound Mrs. Standifer over. While the trial was in progress a guard of policemen was stationed about Standifer to protect him from the brothers of his wife and the dead girl, who had sworn to kill him on sight. Ardent love letters which passed between Standifer and his young sister-in-law, whose love for him cost her her life, were read at the hearing. A letter from the dead girl which fell into the hands of Mrs. Standifer brought about the tragedy. The "Willie" and "Edward" referred to in the letter by Miss Whisenant are her sister and nephew, wife and son of Standifer. Mrs. Standifer went on the stand, and without trace of emotion told why and how she killed her sister. "I killed her," she said, "not only because she destroyed my home, but because she was living in sin with my husband. She is better dead than living a disgraced woman." Other evidence showed that Standifer and Miss Whisenant passed the night before the tragedy together.

The best safeguard against headaches, constipation and liver troubles is DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They don't gripe. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

MONDAY EVENING, MAR. 12, 1906.

THE regular session of the State legislature came to an end at 12 o'clock Saturday night, though it will drag its slow length along till Thursday next in order, it was stated, to give the Governor time to examine and sign bills which were rushed through both houses by the score during the last few days of the session. It is hoped he may exercise his veto power upon many of them. The membership must have been composed largely of Episcopalians, for they did many things they should not have done and left undone many things they should have done, and there was little health in many of them. Some excellent measures were undoubtedly passed but the good accomplished was in many respects offset by the evil done and the State in all probability would have been none the worse off had the session not been held. This was a most extravagant legislature. When it met there was a full treasury, but measures were passed which it is feared will turn the surplus into a deficit within a short time. The entire appropriations made will aggregate $9,318,000, or over two millions more than has ever been appropriated by any other legislature in Virginia. Much time was spent and lost in attempts to amend the constitution, the wisest provisions in that instrument being those which certain members seek to eliminate. The vote to more than double the members' pay was reprehensible in the extreme and many other measures adopted can be placed in the same category. Out of the one hundred and forty members, the real work was done by less than forty men, the others being really a hindrance and their chief object being to try to "make themselves solid at home." Alexandria's representatives were among the forty and were so regarded by their colleagues. Fortunately for the State, under the constitution sessions can only be held biennially and for but sixty days at a time. The people breathe freer when the legislature is not in session.

IN THE old and better days people at large, even the nonsectarian, had some reverence for Holy Week and during that season, in a measure at least, devoted their time to church going and sober thoughts and to some extent put aside worldly pleasures. But things have changed, and sports and pleasures are now uppermost in the thoughts of the vast majority. The following dispatch from Atlantic City is an example of the truth of this observation:

For the benefit of the thousands of visitors who will be in the resort during Holy Week, the Atlantic City Automobile Club has arranged to hold a second series of races on the beach at Ventnor, where they were held last fall.

Have times changed for the better?

EIGHTEEN years have elapsed since the great blizzard of 1888, a storm that still figures in weather reports and in memory as one of the severest that ever befell this vicinity. On the 11th of March springlike weather prevailed, and warm rain was falling. During the night the rain turned to sleet, and then to hard, compact snow, that by morning lay in huge drifts everywhere. Telegraph poles between New York and Washington were prostrated and considerable other damage resulted. Roscoe Conkling, it will be remembered, took cold during the blizzard in New York and his death resulted.

Despairing of any protection by the police, Chicago women are now carrying short-barreled revolvers of the bulldog variety in their muffs. Dealers report unusually heavy sales of these weapons to women within the last two weeks.

From Washington.

Washington, March 12.

President Roosevelt today sent to Congress the first veto of the present session. He declines to approve House bill 10,080, providing for sittings of the U. S. Courts at Miami, Florida. Terms of court are now held in four other cities in Florida, and the President coincides with the views of the Attorney General that public interest would not be subserved by having an additional sitting place. Besides, it would entail considerable expense.

The paper trust was badly worsted in the U. S. Supreme Court today. The appeals of the General Paper Company, and its officials, the paper trust, against the ruling of the circuit court for the Eastern district of Wisconsin, ordering the appellants to open books and documents before examiner in the anti trust investigation, was dismissed by the Supreme Court of the United States, today, the decision being against the trust. Justice McKenna's opinion held that the order was not appealable, and the Supreme Court of the United States has no jurisdiction. The order therefore stands. Appeals by the same parties against orders by the circuit court of Minnesota in contempt proceedings based on appellants, refusal to produce books in Minnesota were held by Justice McKenna to be within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the United States. The judgment in these cases was affirmed, the whole set of cases going against the trust, and making a sweeping victory for the government.

The Supreme Court of the United States today reversed the decision of the Circuit Court of the northern district of Illinois in the so-called "Chicago Traction" cases. The cases are remanded to that court for further action in line with the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States. Justice Day read the synopsis of the opinion which will be filed later. Justices McKenna, Brewer and Brown dissented.

In the appeal of Anna Valentina, the condemned New Jersey murderess, from the refusal of the Circuit Court of New Jersey to grant a writ of habeas corpus, the Supreme Court of the United States today in an opinion by Justice Peckham affirmed the lower court's decision. Relief is thus refused to Anna Valentina and Jersey justice will take its course

General Grosvenor, of Ohio, who was recently beaten for renomination in the Eleventh congressional district, today nominated President Roosevelt for the third term. He did not make the nomination in so many words but the trend of his remarks led only in one direction, and that way to the present occupant of the White House. He began his little lecture on politics by mentioning the fact that he had just returned from a short visit to Ohio and commented on the fact that the legislature was pretty busy passing two cents a mile and other radical bills calculated to worry the corporation interests. "It just shows the direction of public thought," he said. "Ten years ago had any such bills been presented as are now passed by practically unanimous vote, the people would have howled anarchy and socialism. Now it is taken as a matter of course that these bills are presented and passed. Who'll put the most votes at the next election, Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan? Roosevelt, of course," continued General Grosvenor. "The President is radical enough for almost any of them and at the same time he will receive the votes of the conservative element. And while I am on the subject I want to say that the American people reserve the right to elect a man for the third presidential term if they want to do so. All this talk about public sentiment being against it is bosh, according to my opinion."

Corruption in politics generally, and publicity as a cure for the evils that were brought out in the last campaign are to receive a thorough airing in various committees of Congress this week. The House committee on the election of the President and Vice-President began hearings on the general subject this morning, and tomorrow Senator Tillman will appear before a Senate committee in an endeavor to substantiate the charge that national banks have been in the habit of making campaign contributions. The House committee, although intent upon going into the subject of campaign contributions generally, began the hearing this morning on the Perry Belmont publicity bill, the prime purpose of which is to require public reports on contributions made for campaign purposes and to exclude certain corporations from thus participating in political affairs. Representative McCall of Massachusetts appeared for those urging the passage of the bill and introduced the speakers, the first of whom was Mr. Belmont. Speeches will also be made by Representative Burke Cockran, of New York, and other leaders in the new movement.

The traffic in opium in the Philippines will be made a strict government monopoly, if the recommendations of the special committee appointed by the Philippine Commission to investigate the subject shall be adopted. Secretary of War Taft has sent the report of this committee to Congress. Among other things the report says: "We would recommend the adoption of a system of exclusive government monopoly, limiting the right of importation, wholesale and retail, of opium to the government." The report also recommends the adoption of certain measures looking to the decreasing or the restriction of the use of the drug.

The Supreme Court of the United States today in the appeal of Edward F. Hale, on behalf of the American tobacco company, against U. S. Marshal Henkel for the southern district of New York to evade an order to produce books and documents of the American Tobacco Company and subsidiary interests before the Federal grand jury, decided against the tobacco trust. Hale had refused to obey a subpoena duces tecum because he was not furnished with a copy of the accusation pending and because he might incriminate himself. Justice Brown in the course of a thorough study of the law surrounding grand jury proceedings found appellant's claims unsound. This case takes precedence of the paper cases decided today, and Justice McKenna therein refers to the authority of Justice Brown's opinion.

If Secretary of War William H. Taft succeeds Mr. Associate Justice Brown as a member of the Supreme Court when the latter retires in May, as now seems highly probable, the administration of the affairs of the Isthmian Canal will undoubtedly be transferred from the War to the State Department.

The U. S. Supreme Court of the United States today decided the habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Caleb Powers, the man thrice convicted of the murder of Governor Goebel, of Kentucky and now facing a fourth trial against Powers. The court held there was no federal statute giving United States Judge Cochrane authority to remove the Powers case from the jurisdiction of the Kentucky State courts. It was expressly stated, however, that if a lower court of Kentucky refused Powers constitutional rights and the State law denied him an appeal to the higher State court, a writ of error would run from the Supreme Court of the United States to the inferior State court.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs called at the White House this morning to urge the President to retain Secretary Taft at the head of the War Department. "Of course the Secretary will do whatever the President orders him to do" said Senator Warren. "But we hope that he will not find it necessary to take him away from the War Department."

Representative Newton W Gilbert, republican, Indiana, announced today that he is to be appointed judge of the court of the first instance of the Philippines islands, and will retire from Congress at the expiration of his present term. Mr. Gilbert comes from Fort Wayne, normally a democratic stronghold. He came in on the Roosevelt tidal wave of 1904.

Former Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota who was a caller at the White House this morning is of the opinion that Government ownership of railroads is the only solution of the rate problem. "No matter what kind of a rate bill is passed by the Congress" said Mr. Pettigrew, "the railroads will find some way to circumvent it.

Speaker Cannon, Representative Watson, the republican "whip" of the House, and a number of other important men in the body today declared up and down that they would fight to the last ditch against the Senate's "emasculation of legislation," and the inference remains that the statehood bill and other pending measures will die in a deadlock between the conferees of the two branches of the national legislature. "I do not know what the House will do with the statehood bill," exclaimed the Speaker, when he was asked about the matter after he had emerged from President Roosevelt's office. "All I know is that I will register my vote against any agreement with the Senate. Go ask Mr. Aldrich, Mr. Burrows and Company. What do you take us for, up there in the House? Do you think we are going to stand such? You can bet that we will not agree to the changes made by the Senate;" exclaimed Mr. Watson, who followed Mr. Cannon into the President's office, a few minutes later. "They have emasculated our railroad rate bill, have killed off our Philippine tariff measure, and now have cut the deuce out of our statehood bill. Do you think we are going to stand for treatment like that? Well you can bet that we wont. I wonder what the Senate takes the House for, anyway?"

Among the Virginians on the floor of the House today was James [illegible] was recommitted in the House today.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate today: To be Governor of Alaska, Wilford B. Hoggatt, of Juneau, Alaska; to be Consul at Haddersfield, England, Frederick I. Bright, of Ohio; to be United States Attorney for the District of Oklahoma, John Embry, of Oklahoma; to be United States Marshal for the Eastern District of New York, Charles J. Haubert, of New York.

It has been decided by the House leaders to issue a call tomorrow for a republican caucus on the statehood question to be held Wednesday evening. Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, and his insurgent followers will decline to go into the caucus, which, it is believed, will declare in favor of the House statehood bill. Mr. Babcock wants the House to concur in the Senate measure, which admits Oklahoma and Indian territories, but leaves Arizona and New Mexico out.

News of the Day.

John Miller, a well-known farmer, aged about forty, residing near Blue Ridge Summit, east of Pen Mar, is charged with committing a criminal assault upon the sixteen-year-old daughter of his first wife Sunday night at Blue Ridge Summit and is now in jail. There are threats of lynching.

Eugene Richter, radical leader in the German Reichstag since its foundation, Bismark's old opponent and a long-time editor of the Freisinnge Zeitung, died at Berlin Saturday. Near the close of 1904 Richter suddenly retired from the Freisinnige Zeitung, which he founded, and at the same time ceased to appear at the Reichstag. The veteran journalist had been blind for a year. Bismarck once wanted to fight a duel with him, and always left the Reichstag when Richter spoke.

The imperial Chinese commissioners, Duke Tsai Tse, Shang Chi Heng and Li Cheng To, who are en route to Europe to investigate political conditions in England, France and Belgium, arrived in Washington yesterday from New York and were entertained by the Chinese Minister. This morning they called at the State Department, accompanied by the Chinese Minister, and were presented to the Secretary of State. At half past two o'clock this afternoon the members of the commission were presented to the President.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Although legislation ceased in both houses at midnight last night, the legislature will be in constructive session until Thursday, in order to give the Governor time to examine and sign the bills which have been rushed through both houses by the score in the last few days. This arrangement was provided for by the resolution adopted Saturday without opposition. The constructive session began at noon today. No legislature is possible during these four days. It is doubtful if there will be a voting quorum at any time during the extended session

The end came after one of the most exciting sessions in its history. The session began January 10, and from that time to the minute of adjournment there has been a rush of bills while the real business was put off till the last two weeks. The session has been remarkable for the number of measures which have been presented and for the number which have failed to pass. Nearly 2,000 bills were offered in the sixty days, and only about 20 per cent. have been enacted. The body has been a sort of inquisitorial court, and there are pending more investigations to be made in vacation.

The legislators who will sit as inquisitors in the various joint committee to investigate State institutions were named today, as follows:

Investigation of the affairs of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the alleged hazing incident which resulted in the dismissal of Cadet Christian, of Richmond, and others—Delegates A. B. Thornton, Martin Williams, and Thomas H. Lion, Senators Echols and Walker.

To investigate the Virginia Military Institute—Delegates Granville R. Swift, Col. Robert E. Lee, jr, and James L. Taliaferro, Senators Lassiter and Wocher.

To investigate the affairs of the Eastern State Hospital at Williamsburg—Delegates Eugene Ould, T. P. Jennings, and Thomas M. Dunn, Senators Sadler, Mann, and Resor.

To investigate the cost of text-books in use in the public schools of the State and the cause of the differences in prices charged—Delegates Richard E. Byrd and Edwin P. Cox, Senator Strode.

The members named to serve on the committee having in charge the arrangements for presenting a silver service to the first-class battleship Virginia, the gift of the State, are Charles T. Bland, Col. J. R. Caton and Ordway Puller.

The members chosen for the Capitol grounds improvement work were Delegates D H. Pitts and Greene, Senators Horner and Shands.

Delegates Bowman and William H. Baker and Senators Kerns and Hobbs were chosen to serve on the museum committee.

Among the more important bills which have passed both Houses of the General Assembly are:

The Caton bill to create the office of insurance commissioner, to exercise a general supervision of operations and to see that all the insurance laws are rightly complied with; the Churchman bill, fixing a minimum rate of 2 cents per mile [illegible] all so- ion ate ion ey- the ro- of circuit courts from twenty-four to twenty-nine; increasing the salaries of Supreme Court judges, commissioner of agriculture, superintendent of public instruction, and others; the "jim crow" street car law, requiring all companies to separate white and colored passengers, electing to the State board of education only men who are committed to the single-book list in the public schools of the State; the anti graft bill, to limit the liability of hotel keepers for losses by guests, under certain conditions; redistricting the State for congressional elections; doubling the appropriations for public free schools; increasing the salaries of members of the General Assembly to $500 per session; providing for an investigation of the Virginia Military Institute, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the Eastern State Hospital; to provide for the improvement of public highways and the working of convicts on them.

Among the measures killed on the calendar was the Rew crab bill. Among the House bills that failed to pass the Senate were the firemen's relief bill, and the bill placing water, electric light and gas companies under the jurisdiction of the Corporation Commission.

This was an extravagant legislature. The appropriations this year exceed by more than $1,000,000 those of any previous year, and members of the finance committee of the legislature say that they have appropriated nearly $300,000 more than the estimated gross revenues for the year made by Auditor Mayre, Included in this appropriation, however, is close to $100,000 a year for reduction of the public debt, which will not begin to be due for several years yet, the payments being authorized at this time in anticipating of the date set for maturity of a part of the debt.

SENATE.

A sharp colloquy ensued Saturday between Senators Mann and Sale over a resolution which came from the House asking that the rules be amended so as to permit the consideration of the Barrett bill, which provided for jail sentences for those who violated the Sunday liquor laws. Judge Mann asked the concurrence of the Senate, saying that the bill was the only one in the House on its third reading, and that the House desired to discuss it. Mr. Sale objected, saying he had been informed that there were other bills on their third reading: He moved to refer to the committee on finance and banks. The Senate declined to refer and concurred in the resolution by a vote of 30 to 8.

The Senate adopted a resolution, which was concurred in by the House, to consider a bill to re-enact the law in regard to the assessment of mineral lands. Attention was called to the matter by a decision in the court at Christiansburg, which, it is claimed, would invalidate all assessments of mineral lands. The amended bill was introduced, passed by the Senate, sent to the House and was passed by that body before 12 o'clock, thus breaking the record for quick legislation.

The Machen resolution, proposing an amendment to the constitution providing with unnecessary reading of unimportant bills, the abolition of roll calls, except on the passage of bills, and for the cutting off of the introduction of bills after the first sixty days of the sessions of the legislature, and prolonging the sessions to ninety days was adopted.

Delegate Booker's resolution providing for a flat rate of two cents a mile was adopted by the Senate. The resolution instructs the corporation commission to inaugurate a two-cent rate on all Virginia roads.

The feature of the day, so far as strict legislation was concerned, was the passage by the Senate of the Early bill, authorizing courts to appoint commissioners of the revenue. The vote was exceedingly close. The republican Senators were lined up against the bill, and at one time enjoyed an exceptional opportunity to talk it to death, but failed to take advantage of it.

Mr. Chapman, of Greene, made a vigorous effort to pass the bill designed to relieve the McCue children from the payment of the costs in the trial of their father, but without effect.

The Senate passed bills:

To require common carriers doing business in this State to receive and receipt for all freights delivered to them and to provide a penalty for neglect or refusal therefor.

To require railroad companies under certain conditions to maintain telephones in their public offices.

To prohibit the expectorating or spitting in public places, buildings, theatres, railways and street cars, and making it the duty of the owner or lessee of every theatre, public hall or building to provide the same with a sufficient number of spittons or cuspidors.

To regulate the erection of toll gates on the turnpikes in the State of Virginia.

To amend section 39 of an act for the support of the government and public free schools, etc., and to provide a special tax for pensions.

At the night session the discovery was made that the bill offered by Senator Neimeyer, authorizing the city of Portsmouth to issue $500,000 of bonds for the construction of a municipal waterworks, had been tampered with. An amendment had been tacked on to the instrument for which no one could be found to be responsible. A committee was appointed by both houses to investigate the matter.

Standing upon the floor of the Senate, Mr. Thomas, supported by some of the most distioguished members of the body, declared that the State Capitol was infested by a breed that would appear to better advantage behind the bars of the State penitentiary. Bills had been tampered with, amendments filched and others smuggled in, a surreptitious and unlawful re-enactment of laws after the general assembly had passed upon them, designed to serve the ends of those engaged in the practice. Amid a dead silence in the Senate and a remarkable scene in the House of Delegates, the two branches suspended all rules to deal vigorously and promptly with the situation suddenly revealed. A bill was drawn, introduced, and rushed through, making the offense a felony punishable by confinement in the penitentiary from one to five years, and a resolution providing for an immediate investigation and report to the Attorney-General was unanimously passed.

In the course of the discussion references were made to other instances, but the particular case which precipitated the scene of Saturday night was that mysterious amendment to the Portsmouth bill.

It was almost impossible to get anything through the Senate on this last night. Bills were mowed down by the dozen. The roll-call continued and each Senator had some measure he desired to get through. But under the rules three Senators could block any bill, and there were three Senators to object to every measure called up. The Manchester court bill, the Rew crab bill, the Mann bill, the Wharton law, and a dozen others were dead on the calendar beyond resurrection.

After much hilarity it was provided that when the Senate adjourned it adjourn to meet on Monday at noon.

HOUSE.

Mr. Peyton made strenuous efforts to be allowed to take up four bills affecting the charter of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, which he said would, if passed, bring into the State an additional revenue of $40,000 a year.

Mr. Lane and Mr. Marsh refused to consent, and the bills went over.

The House passed Senate bills:

To define what is pure apple cider.

Providing that the judgment of a Circuit or Corporation Court, or other law court of record in any action at law requiring a plaintiff to remit any part of his recovery, as ascertained by the verdict of a jury, and accept a reduced sum may be accepted by such plaintiff under protest; and that such judgment, if accepted under protest, may be the subject of a review by the Supreme Court of Appeals upon a writ of error awarded either the plaintiff or defendant.

To create drainage districts of adjoining, or adjacent, owners of low lands, and to give jurisdiction to the Circuit Court in which said lands lie to enforce its provision.

To regulate the business of lending money on household and kitchen furniture, household goods, wearing apparel, sewing machines, musical instruments, or wages and salaries, on conditional sales of the same, and the buying of salaries and wages.

To make the possession of a United States revenue tax in dry counties a prima facie evidence of guilt.

The first business at the night session was the consideration of the Machen bill, sent from the Senate, which is intended to lessen the routine work of the legislature. After a spirited debate the bill passed, fifty-one to seven.

Various resolutions of thanks to the speaker, clerks, &c. were passed.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon session was the presentation of a handsome pearl and diamond scarf pin to the Speaker by the members of the House, and the gift of a silver loving cup and a set of silver to Clerk Williams by the House and clerks, respectively.

The following nominations received from the governor earlier in the day were confirmed by the Senate: Members of the board of visitors to William and Mary College, James N. Stubbs, of Gloucester; Thomas H. Barnes, of Suffolk; Robert M. Hughes, of Norfolk; D. Gardener Tyler, Charles City; Beverly D. Tucker, of Norfolk, for two years, and B. B. Munford, Richmond; W. C. L. Taliaferro, Hampton; W. D. Smith, Gate City; S. W. Summerville, Fredericksburg, and Richard P. Barham, of Fredericksburg, for four years.

At 10:30 o'clock both houses went into executive session to elect an insurance commissioner and five judges.

In the Senate Mr. Wickham nominated Col. Joseph Button for commissioner and paid a tribute to his efficiency as clerk of the Senate, his remarks being applauded by the Senators.

Mr. Caton nominated Mr. Button in the House.

The election of judges was without incident, and resulted as follows:

Twenty-fifth circuit—T. N. Haase.

Twenty-sixth circuit—Edward S. Turner.

Twenty-seventh circuit—William E. Burns.

Twenty-eighth circuit—R. E. Boykin.

Twenty-ninth circuit—Bennett T. Gordon.

There is alarm among the managers of insurance companies doing business in Virginia. The Caton insurance bill is the cause of the dismay. In the final rush to speed the bill through, an amendment put upon it by the Senate escaped the notice of all but a few of those interested in the measure. The amendment prohibits surety companies from going on the bonds of its patrons to an extent greater than 10 per cent. of its capital and surplus. The effect will be a severe blow to the majority of the surety and bonding companies doing business in this State. The amendment passed the House unchallenged, having escaped notice.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch gives the following account of the adjournment:

The legislative session of the general assembly is at an end. With the hands of the clock crossed upon the mark of midnight ends the hoarsely shouted strains of "Auld Lang Syne," lingering in the august chamber, the Senate having spent an evening of frolic and sensations, with a modicum of work; arose, and wishing itself and its appendages individually and collectively a hearty good-will and farewell, adjourned. A few moments later the House of Delegates followed, and the legislative mills had ceased for each, not of grist, be it known, but of time and human endurance. At the end hundreds of bills lay dead and dying, while a comparative few were on their way to the statute books. Important laws were made and others proposed, seemingly of as great importance, untouched. Adjournment brought relief to all, but disappointment to many.

George W. Stringfield and John Sherman have been reinstated as regular members of the force of customs inspectors at Newport News. Last summer they were dismissed by J. E. B. Stuart. At the same time Messrs. Barrett and Kellum were removed and Deputy Collector Eubank and Chief Inspector Gorecock were reduced to the rank of inspectors. Upon investigation by the Civil Service Commission it was found that the primary reason for removing Springfield and Sherman was that they were democrats. The commission recommended that these two be reinstated as soon as the work of the office justified. The President had an order issued in accordance with this recommendation.

The Mine Horror in France.

Paris, March 12.—The latest reports from Courrieres as to the approximate number of the casualties in the great mine disaster there on Saturday, give the figures as between 1,200 and 1,300. It is probable that the exact number of those who lost their lives there will never be known, owing to the fact that bodies were destroyed by the fire which rushed through the mine.

Letter to R L Myers & Co

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sirs: There is endless discussion about barytes in paint. Perhaps this settles the question.

Two houses exactly alike at Delhi, N Y; the owner of both is N Avery. One was recently painted Devoe; the other with a barytes paint; same painter did both jobs; his name is George Gilbert.

One cost $27; the other $54. The first took 6 gallons; the other 12. Six gallons Devoe, as to covering, equals twelve of the other.

Yours truly

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, March 12.

SENATE.

Mr. Tillman paid his respects to the President today for the executive's recent criticism in a special message of the shortcomings of Congress in connection with its resolution of inquiry into alleged railroad, oil and coal trusts. The President contended that Congress had failed to either provide the money or grant to the Interstate Commerce Commission the special powers necessary to successfully pursue such investigation, "thus creating the impression of insincerity, in pretending to do something, which would in the end avail nothing."

After having the president's message read, "to refresh our minds," the Senator explained, he expressed his regret that he felt called upon "to criticise this extraordiary paper."

With a sweep of the Senate he said slowly: "Fate has recently enlisted me as the ally of the President, in securing adequate railway rate legislation. As my whole soul has been enlisted in this question before this year or last, I don't want to appear to criticise the President or to do anything that might occasion any disruption of the amicable feelings that exist or seem to exist between us."

Mr. Tillman smiled drolly. The Senators burst into laughter, for the South Carolinian has carried on a bitter fight against the President for several years, and it was but a few weeks ago that he delivered the most vindictive speech ever heard in the Senate. It was directed toward the President. He declared that there were some things that even he, as a Senator, could not put up with. "If I understand the English language," he exclaimed. "The President charges us with insincerity and I with being ignorant of what we were trying to do. He goes a great ways with a little while. He has undertaken a great contract to justify his sweeping accusations" He objected to being scolded by the President. "The President must have been misinformed and miserably advised," he declared. He charged that Commissioner of Corporations Garfield was outside of his jurisdiction, and that he was meddling with something with which he had absolutely no concern, if he were, as the President said, conducting an independent investigation against the oil trust. I pardon a great deal of the President's act because of the burdens upon" he explained, "and overlook his customary impetuosity but there are limits to our endurance. The President should not so lightly and flippantly insult us."

Mr. Lodge defended the President's course. "I have always noticed," he exclaimed, "that those most ready to offer criticism are those who are most sensitive when criticism is directed towards them."

Mr. Foraker declared that there was no insincerity in his conduct, as he believed the ownership of coal and oil lands, or other products by common carriers, was one of the greatest existing evi's.

HOUSE.

When the House met today, a messenger of the Senate submitted the amended statehood bill, which Speaker Cannon laid upon the table, subject to the call of Chairman Hamilton, of the territories committee. He will call it up next week. In the meantime republicans will hold another caucus on the bill.

A resolution was adopted, calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury to report to the House whether the United States District Attorney for the Southern District of New York has received extra compensation for the prosecution of customs cases.

Matters pertaining to the government of the District of Columbia were then considered.

The Cameron Club.

Prof. Wiley, of the Agricultural Department, Saturday night expounded his views on food adulteration before a good sized audience in Confederate Veterans' hall. The lecture was under the auspices of the Cameron Club. Dr. Llewellyn Powell of this city introduced the speaker. Dr. Wiley said the matters which he would bring to the attention of his audience were those which pertained directly to the home and domestic circle. In his opinion the greatest fault of food adulteration is its fraudulent character, and not its injury to health. The fight he had made against oleomargarine, he said, had not been made against its sale as such, but against its fraudulent sale as butter. A preservative to be of any value as such, he said, must be strong enough to kill all the bacteria in a food, and in all his experiments with preserved food conducted at the Agriculture Department he had found that such preservatives were detrimental to health. He quoted an eminent London physician as saying that when the system becomes so saturated with certain of the acts commonly used as preservatives and also as curative agents by the medical profession their employment in the latter form would be without effect, and hence valuable medicines would thus virtually be robbed of their power. Such ordinary and necessary condiments as salt in combination with the cold storage are all that is necessary, he said, for the preservation of food as long as it ought to be kept, and as no general famine is threatening the country the storing up of food for years and years is detrimental to the public health and should not be allowed. He also discussed the subject of pure milk supply and spoke of the high mortality rate among infants as the result of impure milk. A rigid system of State inspectors of the country dairies was in his opinion the best cure for this evil. In conclusion he took up the patent medicine question and said the advertisements of the patent medicine men were especially harmful, as they described symtoms which were normal to every healthy individual as the signs of the most maligoant diseases. Although some of these medicines, he said, were useful, the laity should be protected by the published formula on every package exposed for sale.

He was followed by Dr. Llewellyn Powell, who read a paper on observations made in New York as to the effects of impure milk upon infants.

Funerals.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Isabella Brager, who died last Thursday, took place yesterday morning from 1729 Linden avenue, Baltimore. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. A. Guttmacher, rabbi of the Madison Avenue Temple. Immediately afterward the remains, accompanied by relatives, were brought to this city. They were met at the new union depot by a number of friends and acquaintances of the family. The interment was made in the Hebrew cemetery at this place. Rev. Dr. Guttmacher accompanied the party and conducted services at the grave. The journey was made in a special funeral car. The pallbearers were Messrs. S. Ganss, Sylvan Waterman, M. J. Waterman, Henry Ambach, A. Meyers, and E. Goldsmith.

The funeral of the late Walter C. Posey took place yesterday afternoon from St. Mary's Church, Rev. Father Cutler officiating. The services were attended by a large number of friends of the deceased, and the floral tributes were profuse. The interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery. The pallbearers were Edward Potter, Enoch Davis, William Lyons, Henry Lyons, J. Gensemer and Mr. Potter.

The funeral of Miss Lizzie Labille took place from her late home on south Fairfax street this morning, and was attended by relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Fathers Cutler and Cavnaugh and the pallbearers were Messrs. P. F. Gorman, Louis Shuman, George H. Harlow, R. M. Latham, Albert Schoeni and John G. Eberhardt. Miss Labille was born in Alexandria 80 years ago. She was a daughter of the late Lewis Labille, who in the thirties conducted the confectionery business on Royal street, opposite the market. The deceased was at one time a school teacher. She was from girlhood a consistent member of St. Mary's Church.

Arrested as a Witness.

A dispatch from Winston-Salem, N. C., says that J. E. Witbeck, who may prove an important witness for the prosecution in the Henry Kobre murder case, was arrested in Petersburg, Saturday evening, and will be taken to Winston-Salem to testify what he knows about the crime. Witbeck is the man who, Sallie Stewart has contended all the time, gave her the first information—in fact, the details of the murder. He was a resident of Winston-Salem when Kobre was killed. Mr. Witbeck says he knows nothing of the murder and was not in Winston-Salem the night it occurred (January 21). The Winston-Salem Journal of last Saturday printed a statement made by Sallie Stewart in which she implicates Witbeck.

[Witbeck is a native of Alexandria, and at one time was an attache of the Portner Brewery. He was later transferred to Winston-Salem, where he was in the employ of the company until last last Christmas. His services at the breweryin this city were very satisfactory, and his many friends and acquaintances hereabouts are loth to believe he had any hand in the crime referred to above. Kobre, is is said, had between $1,200 and $1,500 on his person when killed.]

The New Park.

On a special train on the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway, yesterday, committees from a number of lodges and organizations of Washington made a trip to Luna Park, the picnic and summer resort now building at Four Mile Run, in Alexandria county. Members of the committees were shown over the park and had the proposed attractions explained to them. The park will be open to the public early in the summer.

The New Ferryboat.

Preparations are being made at the shipyards of the Harlan & Hollingworth Corporation in Wilmington, Del., for the launching of the big ferryboat now under construction for the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company. The steamer which will be christened Callahan, will be launched on Wednesday, March 21.

The Chain Gang.

Judge Barley of the Corporation Court today issued the following order providing for the working on the chain gang of certain persons confined in the city jail:

It appearing to the court that the City Council of this city having failed to establish a chain gang and that on motion of the Mayor of the city the court did establish such chain gang by an order entered on the 7th day of August, 1905, and it further appearing to the court that rules for the government of the same have not been made by said City Council, the court doth adjudge and order that all persons confined in the jail of this city, liable to work in chain gangs, be delivered to Norman Treakle or such other person authorized to take charge of and work the chain gang in this city. The working hours of said chain gang shall be as follows: From 8 o'clock a. m. until 11:45 a. m. and from 1 o'clock p. m. to 5 p. m. during the months of October, November, December, January, February and March, and from 8 o'clock a. m. until 11:45 a. m. and from 1 o'clock p. m to 5:30 p. m. during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September. In the event that any person employed in such chain gang does not conform to or obey these rules and regulations any such person or persons so refusing shall be put upon a diet of bread and water and confined in the dungeon of said jail until willing to work, provided the same shall not be for more than three days consecutively. The jailor of this city is ordered to keep an account of the prisoners confined under State commitments, who are employed in said chain gang, and charge the board and other expense of keeping the same, including the necessary clothing used by such prisoners, to the city of Alexandria, so that the same may be paid for out of the city treasury.

Strike Imminent.

New York, March 12.—A strike of anthracite miners is inevitable and one in the soft coal fields is probable unless President Theodore Roosevelt takes control of the situation and makes an effective intervention with the ways and means at his command. The possibility of the anthracite operators and miners reaching an agreement at a joint conference after the Indianapolis convention is regarded as practically nil, in view of the absolute refusal of the demands of the miners by the operators and the strong stand taken by the miners for bettering their condition. Neither side seems prepared to concede an inch. That President Roosevelt purposes a material stroke at the psychological moment is indicated by the presence of Dr. Charles P. Neill, U. S. Commissioner of Labor, at a conference with John Mitchell, President of the Miners Union, yesterday, in Philadelphia. They were in conference for over two hours, and, while neither would discuss the subject of their meeting, both admitted that the situation was extremely serious. Mitchell left on an afternoon train for Indianapolis, and Dr. Neil returned to Washington later.

Washington, March 12.—It was stated with authority at the White House today that President Roosevelt is taking no part in the negotiations between the contending powers in the coal fields. The conference that was held between President Mitchell, of the miners, and Prof. Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, was no. arranged by the President and in meeting with Mr. Mitchell, Prof. Neill acted solely upon his own initiative.

New French Cabinet.

Paris, March 12.—The new French ministry has been formed as follows: Premier and Minister of Justice, M. Jean Sarrien; Minister of Finance, M. Raymond Poincare; Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Bourgeois; Minister of Public Works, M. Jean Louis Barthous; Minister of Commerce, M. Georges Jean Claude Leygues; Minister of Agriculture, Joseph Ruay; Minister of the Interior, Eugene Georges Benjamin Clemenceau; Minister of War, Eugene Etienne; Minister of Marine, Maston Thomson; Minister of Public Instruction, M. Aristide Briand. There may be some readjustment of portfolios among the men who are named to suit their individual preferences, but the list otherwise is said to be definite. It is reported that dissensions have already broken out among the new ministers and that complications are possible.

Betrothal Announced

Madrid, March 12.—Premier Moret today announced to the chamber of deputies King Alfonso's betrothal to Princess Ena of Battenberg. Afterward Senor Salvador, the finance minister, read the articles of the marriage contract by which an annual allowance of 250,000 pesetas is made to Princess Ena.

Demands Rejected.

The propositions of the United Mine-workers of America for an readjustment of wages and conditions in the anthracite coal fields, as a whole, have been denied by the committee representing the anthracite operators. As a counter proposition, the operators suggest that the awards made by the Anthracite Strike Commission, the principles upon which they were established by the commission, and the methods established for carrying out their findings and awards, shall be continued for a further term of three years from the first day of April, 1906. The present agreement terminates March 31 of this year. The operators declare that no occasion has arisen to change the status as arranged by the strike commission and that an increased pay cannot be given without increasing price of coal, which would not be to the advantage of either operators or miners.

How a Fish Breathes.

The gills of a fish are situated at the back part of the sides of the head and consist of a number of vascular membranes, which are generally arranged in double, fringelike rows, attached to the parts by the base only. In some cases these membranes are feather shaped, in others mere folds attached to the sides of the gill cavities. The fish is a cold blooded animal—that is to say, its temperature is seldom more than a degree or two higher than the water in which it lives. This being true, the creature needs but a very small amount of oxygen to keep the blood at a temperature sufficiently high to sustain life. This oxygen is supplied to the blood of the fish by respiring large quantities of water, or, rather, drinking large quantities of water, and respiring the air separated from it by the gills. This explains why a fish cannot live in a tank of water which has been sifted through the gills time and time again any better than a human being or other animal can in air that has been deprived of all its oxygen by being taken into lungs and expelled without being aerated. Fish that die in the stale water of aquariums may be properly said to drown, because they perish for want of air, the same thing which occasions death by drowning in man and other lung breathing animals.

Rain Coat For a Bear.

There is one big brown bear in New York that gets coddled beyond belief. He belongs to a Sixth avenue furrier. He is not a live bear. Even the memory of the oldest passenger on the elevated road goeth not back to the time of that bear's demise; yet, in spite of his long period as a "dead one," he is the sleekest, best groomed bear in New York. That is because the furrier takes such good care of him.

Storms are never allowed to beat upon his glossy coat. He cannot be humored to the extent of being brought indoors during a downpour, because it is his business to stand on a pedestal outside and drum up trade, but the next best thing is done for him. He is provided with a rain coat. It covers him from snout to tail; so, no matter how hard the rain may beat or the wind may blow, he is insured from damage thereby.—New York Press.

The Fate of Flies.

Some light on the fate of flies was thrown by H. Hill in a lecture at the Royal Victoria hall, London, on "Flies and How They Disappear." In England alone there are 3,000 different kinds of flies, and Mr. Hill mentioned the following principal ways in which flies perish: They are drowned in milk at the breakfast table; they get surrounded by a white fungus, which saps their strength; they are eaten by spiders, wasps, frogs, chameleons, lizards, field mice or fish.

With so many enemies it might be wondered how flies have continued to exist, but Mr. Hill said that he had himself witnessed a daddy longlegs whose front half was being devoured by a spider continuing calmly to lay eggs with the other half, as though nothing were happening.

Why Men Wear Mustaches.

The Gaulois of Paris has been investigating that grave question, "Why do men wear mustaches?" About 100 men answered the question. Six replied that it was too much trouble to shave, one declared that it was to hide his teeth, another that his long nose, without it, gave him a bad appearance, and three that it avoided colds. Three others maintained that it improved the air they breathed, and seven were of the opinion that a mustache was necessary to health. Seventeen men were content to state that they did it to please themselves, while only two said it was to please their wives. About sixty gave the reason that women do not like clean shaven men.

The Office Dignified.

A Greek named Epaminondas was condemned by his enemies to fill an office much beneath him, which consisted in cleaning the streets and clearing away refuse. He declared that he would make them see that not only does the task show what the man is, but also the man shows what the task is, and he raised the office to a great dignity, teaching that no honest work need degrade the worker, but an honest worker can dignify the work.

True Courage.

True courage is cool and calm. The bravest of men have the least of a brutal, bullying insolence and in the very time of danger are found the most serene, pleasant and free. Rage, we know, can make a coward forget himself and fight, but what is done in fury and anger can never be placed to the account of courage.—Lord Shaftesbury.

Keeping Out of Danger.

Lady Frederick Cavendish once told a story in illustration of the prevailing ignorance in certain classes in England. A poor woman in discussing the propriety of washing her child's head said: "I know better than to do that. I've heard enough of water on the brain."

Retaliation.

Mrs. Jawback—Just like a man! The idea of losing your temper and swearing at your razor because it's dull! Mr. Jawback—Well, I've got a right to. Didn't the razor lose its temper first?—Cleveland Leader.

An Arab Proverb.

When you have done any one a favor throw into the sea the remembrance of it, and if the fishes devour it God will remember it.

Fashion is gentility running away from vulgarity and afraid of being overtaken by it. It is a sign the two things are not far asunder.—Hazlitt.

Lorenzo Dow and Burr.

When the timid colonial clergymen were afraid to criticise Aaron Burr's treason they asked Lorenzo Dow what he thought of Burr's meanness. He raised both hands like a great V and shouted: "Aaron Burr mean! Why, I could take the little end of nothing whittled down to a point, punch out the pith of a hair and put in 40,000 such traitor souls as his, shake 'em up, and they'd rattle."

An Ardent Lover.

"And you went straight to her father and demanded his daughter's hand?"

"I went straight enough, but I—well, I'll admit that I didn't carry out my original purpose."

"Scared?"

"Scared! No, sir! But we got to talking stocks, and I forgot all about it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Goes Out.

"That's a pretty swell smoking jacket you've got on," said the caller.

"Smoking jacket?" replied Henpeck. "Why, this is my house coat."

"Well, that's the same thing"—

"Well, I guess it isn't the same thing; not in this house. When I want to smoke I have to put on my overcoat."—Philadelphia Press.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

The Breath of Life.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. Oh, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by F. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlain Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shonick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign, I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advised me to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflammation had largely subsided. I took several does that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council" This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Quick changes from hot to cold and back again try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest and positive remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases are cured in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
